We are the preferred technology partner for electricians on the Sunshine Coast

There are hundreds of homes across the Sunshine Coast in desperate need of C-BUS maintenance, repair and upgrades. As an electrician, you may think that C-BUS can be the bane of your existence. We hear you. And we can help. We take the risk out of quoting, installing, maintaining and repairing ageing C-Bus homes. If you bring us in, we will pay you a commission. You can either help us install the equipment, or we can completely run the project for you. On most of our new projects, the electrician makes more profit on a C-Bus job than with standard wiring. PLUS As we are a Clipsal Point One installer, we can offer your clients a four-year manufacturer warranty on new projects at NO EXTRA COST!

At Connect Multimedia, we like to keep things simple – our partnerships included. Anytime a builder or homeowner reaches out to you about Smart Home Technology, that’s when you get us involved. We’ll join you in the discussions with your customer and design a solution to meet their needs.

Why use Connect Multimedia for your Smart Home Projects?

Full-service - design, install, maintenance and repair

We can quickly and efficiently find and rectify issues with older systems. We provide pre-programmed switches, dimmers, relays, cables lists, dimmer schedules and all the documentation to make installation as simple as possible.

Over 15 years experience
Working on residential and commercial automation projects with all the bells and whistles. It doesn't have to cost a fortune. We are serving the Sunshine Coast, Caloundra to Noosa.

We are not Electricians

We can operate as a sub-contractor or an independent supplier. We serve you, so you can more completely serve your customers. We become your technology partner and we will never "steal" your clients.

DID YOU KNOW?

Ten or fifteen year old C-Bus systems can easily be updated without changing existing C-Bus hardware like dimmers, relays and switches.

Today's automation systems, like Control4, Crestron, Savant and RTI use a smart phone app to control everything in the home. These work really well with existing and older C-Bus systems. It doesn't have to be a huge job to upgrade.

CCTV cameras, Security, Music and Intercoms can easily be added to your new smart phone app. This can be controlled from down the street or from on holiday anywhere in the world.

Any upgrade project is scalable. It can be as simple as adding a replacement touchscreen, or to building a new system for a massive estate that wants to add all the bells and whistles.

Hundreds of Sunshine Coast homes are in desperate need of maintenance. Here is what to look out for ...

- 1. C-Bus Touchscreens. Clipsal stopped making the large colour touchscreen a decade ago, and there is no simple replacement that will fit in the same hole. This device is like the "brain" of the C-Bus system and if this dies before the configuration files can be removed from it, it can be a lot more costly to replace. The entire house will have to be reverse engineered to re-produce the files inside the touchscreen. This process can sometimes take days to complete. The touchscreen is now the weakest link of the C-Bus system and it would be wise to replace these ASAP.
- 2. C-Bus Switches. Faded and broken switch buttons. Switches suffer from wear and tear. They can be quickly and easily replaced. There are also more modern versions of these switches that really give the home a high tech look.
- 3. Intermittant faults like lights turning on by themselves or schedules not working properly.
- 4. Clients looking for a simple, easy-to-use solution to update or modernised the initial investment they made in their home.
